se finishes marked the closing day of fall meeting at Aqueduct yesterday ernoon. Five out of six favorites were and the thoroughly chilled crowd ne hoping that the game would be easier at Jamaica, where the final meeting of on begins to-day.

The Stony Brook Stakes, for three-year-olds and upward, at a mile and a sixteenth, was cut to pieces, six of the original entries being withdrawn. The talent showed a strong fancy for old Carbuncle, and made him an even money favorite, at the same time allowing the Belmont cast off, Namtor, to go back threes. The race was between them, and the result was in doubt until Fuller put up a stronger finish than Redfern, Namtor winning by a nose in 1:50. Gaviota, 9 to 1, was Young Henry and Ascension were both quoted at 11 to 5 Fuller made the pace, as usual, with Mainle Worth, with Ascension hard after her. When the stretch was reached Fuller wisely selected a dry strip in the middle of the track and ex-tended the St. George filly to the limit. Although Hicks made a bold bid with Ascension Faller had something up his sleeve in the final strides, and Mamie Worth won by a neck in 1:14 1-5, Ascension beating Young Henry by two lengths.

race for platers, at a mile, with Nine Spot the favorite at 11 to 5. When the gate went up both Nine Spot and Arden, who had been backed down from 20 to 1 to twelves, were away poorly, while Alpaca, 12 to 1, shot to tage Maid, 15 to 1, finally drew away and got the verdict in a hot drive by three parts of a length. Alpaca lasted long enough to half a length before Widow's Mite. 10 to 1, who was the same distance before Squanto, the latter beating Nine Spot a head. The time was 1:43.

Jack McGinnis got in a killing in the third Jack McGinnis got in a killing in the third race, for maiden two-year-olds, at six and a half furlongs, when his gelding Raider galloped home three lengths to the good with 10 to 1 about him. He made the bulk of the running and was timed in 1:23-5. John Daly's Flag Officer, second choice, moved up from the ruck in the last quarter and was second, two lengths before Belle of Portland, 7 to 1. The favorite, Sonoma Belle, was a head back. Tithonic was jammed to the rail on the turn and Gannon got a hard fall, but luckily escaped serious injury.

David Gideon's Blytheness, second choice, took the fifth race, for beaten two-year-olds, at five furlongs, in a fierce drive by a head. O'Neill was the master of Homanelli, who rode the second horse, M. Theo, 7 to 1. Billy Oliver's Shady Lad, a 20 to 1 shot, got third money, two lengths before Sweet Tone. Agnes Brennan, the favorite, was soundly beaten. The race was run over the straightaway course in 1:00 3-5.

The wind-up, a handlcap for all ages, at a mile, was not only a final body blow for the form players but also caused a howl from the backers of Sheriff Bell when the presiding judge placed Bill Daly's Illyria, 9 to 1, in front of him by a nose. Girdle made a spreadesgle pace to the last furlong, where she blew up. At that point River Pirate, Sweet Alice, Sheriff Bell and Illyria were strung across the track on even terms. Hicks went after Sheriff Bell with Illyria in a great rush, and as the two horses passed the finish line the decision was solely up to the sudge, who gave the race to Illyria, Fuller having Sheriff Bell when the presiding the decision was solely up to the sudge, who gave the race to Illyria, Fuller having Sheriff Bell who lengths before Sweet Alice, who was a head better than River Pirate. Play at Atlantic City-Nicholis Wins Professional Match.

Bernard Nicholls won with unexpected ease in the play-off yesterday at Baltusrol against the best ball of George Strath and Tom Anderson, in the $500 match. The match was a tie at thirty-six holes on the preceding Friday, when it was agreed to play off at eighteen holes. On the first occasion the saved themselves after warming up in the afternoon. The short match was probably against them. Nicholls, however, played in splendid style, as the appended cards show: Nicholls

Strath 5 4 4 4 5 -22-66
Anderson 4 4 4 4 5 -22-65

The annual foursome competition for two prizes offered by Thomas A. Eddy and Frederick H. Webster will begin to-day at the Dyker Meadow Golf Club. The teams must be made up of players whose aggregate handicaps shall not be less than twenty-eight. The eight teams making the lowest scores to-day at eighteen holes medal play will continue at match play, the final to be played before Nov. 30.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 6.—Despite the wintry weather and the penetrating wind, some very good golf was played to-day in the annual open tournament of the Atlantic City Country Club. The four best men are left in the Governors' cup and the President's cup divisions, and some spirited golf is expected to-morrow in the semi-finals and finals.

An incident which made golfing expensive for George T. Brokaw was the fact that it cost him $3.75 for slicing a golf ball over the fence into Farmer Turner's field. The caddie who went after the ball was arrested, taken before a country justice and fined, and Brokaw promptly paid the fine. Brokaw was his own caddie until the boy was brought back by the constable. It occurred with one other caddie and the farmer seems to be doing a thriving business for this season of the year.

D. J. LYNCH RULED OFF.

Western Jockey Club Refuses to Becognize Pull Which Gained His Reinstatement.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—The stewards of the Western Jockey Club defied to-day the political influences which compelled the Harlem Jockey Club judges to reinstate D. J. Lynch. The stewards ruled Lynch off the turf for life, and punished with him Trainer C. Lind and Jockey Treanor. All were concerned in the alleged doping of racehorses at Hawthorne and Harlem. When Lynch and his trainer and jockey came under the ban at Hawthorne, Harlem put on its ban. The judges at Hawthorne refused to take official action when pressure was brought to bear to reinstate, but a prominent part owner of the Cleero track caused a statement to be issued that the suspension had been "lifted." Harlem's judges, Col. Hamilton and Martin Nathanson, put out the paper which caused such a tempest in local turf circles, stating that certain influences which the Harlem Jockey Club had compelled the reinstatement of Lynch. A storm of criticism over the reinstatement of a turfman who had not been cleared of charges against him threw the whole matter into the hands of the stewards of the Western Jockey Club. Under the terms of Lynch and his colleagues for the "good of the turf" was permissible. CHICAGO, Nov. 6 .- The stewards of the Aqueduct Turf Gossip.

The stewards at Aqueduot were still investigating yesterday the races of Lord Badge on Wednesday and Thursday, but they said that they had arrived at no con-clusion. It was the general belief among horsemen that the case would probably be dismissed, as the difference in the going was regarded as a fair reason for the golding's wonderful form reversal.

wonderful form reversal.

While at the post for the second race, Cochran deliberately broke through the barrier with Mary Worth and was consequently fined $100. Starter Cass dy, incidentally, inflicted numerous penalties during the meeting just closed, evidently finding it a difficult matter to keep the boys in control. Starter Fitzgerald will resume work at Jamaica to-day, but whether he will adopt Cassidy's method of allowing the horses to walkup to the barrier for a break remains to be seen.

Emil Herz, formerly the racing partner of Boots Durnell, bld up Cottage Maid, the winner of the second race, to $1,400 and got her. The Halma filly will be shipped to California in the same car with the horses of Frank Regan and J. A. Kyle.

The good things that did not come to hand were H. L. Coleman, Arden, Setauket, Sir Carter, Silverfoot, St.Gallen, Potente, Bronx, Second Sight and Belle of Belle Meade. No meeting this year has been so prolific of no-account tips.

STEAM VACHTS TO RACE.

E. M. Smith Challenges the Kanawha to Race With Haouli for Lysistrata Cup. F. M. Smith, who this year had the steam yacht Haouli built, has sent a challenge to H. H. Rogers, the owner of the Kanawha, for a race for the Lysistrata Cup, which was won last summer by the Kanawha in a race off Newport. Mr. Smith has notified Secretary George Cormack of the New York Yacht Club that he has challenged. The race will be held next June, and Mr. Rogers as the holder of the cup can name the place where the yachts are to meet. The course is to be not less than lifty nautical miles. If the Kanawha should win the race again the cup would become the personal property of Mr. Rogers.

Since the Kanawha won, Mr. Rogers has had some experiments made with his yacht with a view of improving her speed, and she will go to the line next time in much better shape than she ever was. The Haoull has shown that she is a very fast boat, and it is expected that the winner will have to develop a speed of 21 knots an hour and maintain it throughout the contest. F. M. He was enjoined from playing with the New York Nationals, with whom he signed a contract while still under contract to Chicago, and so remained idle.

LOU DILLON ON THE SPEEDWAY. Trotting Queen Shows Her Paces With Owner Billings Driving.

Lou Dillon, 1:58%, by the records the great-ist of all trotters, made her first appearance on the Speedway yesterday. C. K. G. Billings, her owner, was behind her, and the peerless mare displayed no more nervousness than the average high class Speedway star. After sending her down once at about an easy 2:15 clip, to get her muscles warmed, she was turned with her stable mate, the pacer Greenline, 2:07%, driven by Charles Tanner.

The trotting queen soon demonstrated how much she outclasses the best by carrying Greenline so fast that he became demoralized how much she outclasses the best by carrying Greenine so fast that he became demoralized and made a break that left him in the rear. Then Millard Saunders took the reins, and the owner, accompanied by former Mayor Hugh Grant, watched the faultiess action of the mare as she stepped over the course.

Later, Mr. Billings got up behind the pacer Hontas Crooke, 2:08½, for several seasons the champion of the Speedway, and sent him one brush against Greenline, driven by Charles Tanner. The trim chestnut soon demonstrated that he had not lost his speed, for he beat his fleet stable mate decisively.

The stirring event of the afternoon from a racing standpoint was the meeting between E. E. Smathers's hitherto invincible pacer John M., 2:06, and James A. Murphy's chestnut pacer Free Advice, 2:10½, with the owners driving. The fame of Mr. Smathers's champion had preceded him, and the crowd was astonished when Free Advice beat him twice decisively. John M. won every race in his campaign, and this was his first defeat for the year.

Nathan Straus, behind the black trotter Ted, 2:15½, and A. B. Gwathmey, with Blondie, 2:13½, had a renewal of hostilities, and Ted won the first and third of three bruising heats. The last was a matter of inches only at the finishing post.

Old Time Shot Putter Dead. John J. Barrett, who ten years ago was well known as a shot putter, died in the Harlem Hospital yesterday morning of typhoid fever. Barrett represented the Xavier A. C. and the Manhattan A. C. in many championship contests and was able to put the shot over forty feet. He was 36 years old and was born in Galway, Ireland:

IN THE FOOTBALL WORLD.

PHILADELPHIA HOLDS THE CEN-TRE OF THE STAGE TO-DAY.

Comparison of the Harvard and Pennsylvania Teams-Feeling Strained by Protest Talk-Both Elevens Erratic Other Contests on the Schedule.

Philadelphia holds the centre of the stage in the football drama to-day, Harvard meet-ing Pennsylvania in the first of the four biggest games in the East, the other three being Yale-Princeton, Harvard-Yale and Army vs. Navy. There is little choose-tween the Crimson and the Quakers in form shown so far, both having been uncertain and unsatisfactory. Of the two, Harvard's playing has been the less consistent, but to offset this it is believed the Harvard team has the greater possibilities if it can get together and strike the gait of which its material indicates that it is capable. The Quaker team in its only big game thus far, that with Columbia, showed a pronounced tendency to fumble and otherwise go up in the air. Harvard adherents think their team will be cooler than the Quakers to-day, but, on the other hand, the Pennsylvanians say the baptism of defeat received from Colum-bia has had the purifying effect needed, that there will be no more games lost through becoming rattled, and they say their material is as good as Harvard's. Whatever energy and unison have been shown by the two teams have in each case been largely spasmodic, and neither has shown the sus-tained strength in defence that Yale and Princeton have. Unless one or both teams take the sudden brace that sometimes comes to teams-football teams in particular-to-day's game promises to be a good deal of a scramble, with mistakes by which the more alert side will profit. Harvard has bigger ends than Pennsylvania, men more useful in breaking up interference than their lighter opposites and just as fast, but no spryer in following the ball or heading off plays. The tackles are pretty well matched in point of size and aggressiveness, while in the centre Pennsylvania's trio has displayed more steadiness and more ginger than Harvard's three middle men. Harvard certainly has the better of the situation at quarter back with Capt. Marshall playing there. Marshall is a better general than the Pennsylvania quarter, heavier, more experienced and one of the best men in the game at running back kicks Nichols of Harvard, a very fast half back also is an adept at running back kicks and just as fast in scrimmage work. However, Smith of Pennsylvania can bring back kicks with a rush, and he is the hardest line plunger on either team, a valuable and dangerous man and one who can stand lots of work Hurley of Harvard and Drake of Pennsylvania are both fairly good men in the secondary defence. Schoelkopf, the Harvard full back, is of the heavy line breaking sort, and Bennett of Pennsylvania, if he plays, is about as good and handy all around man. If Reynolds plays behind the line for Pennsylvania he will lighten the Pennsylvania back field, but strengthen the kicking department. He and Lemoyne of Harvard can boot the ball long distances. In the way of handling kicks the Harvard backs have done much the cleaner work, and if the Quakers are to cope with them in this regard, they must needs have improved materially.

Yale plays Syracuse to-day and Prince ton meets Lafayette. Neither Ell nor Tiger expects more than good practice. An important game is that between Dartmouth and Amherst, and the game in Washington between the Indians and Georgetown is likely to be one of the best of the day. The schedule follows:

Harvard vs. Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia. cleaner work, and if the Quakers are to cope

There is much indignation at Pennsylvania There is much indignation at Pennsylvania over Harvard's action in objecting to Smith. Zeigler and Zilligen of the Pennsylvania team on the ground of ineligibility. The Pennsylvania authorities have investigated full the cases of these three men, have pronounced them eligible, and it is announced that they will surely play to-day. What effect the playing of the men will have on future relations between Harvard and Pennsylvania remains to be seen, but it has not made the relations any more cordial. There also are said to be differences regarding the officials named for to-day's game, with objections pro and con.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 6.—The Tigers had secret practice again to-day. It was learned that Kafer and Foulke would not be in the first line-up against Lafayette to-morrow, but Munn and King, two of the substitute backs, will take their places. This is done to save the regular backs as much as possible for the hard work of next week with its culmination in the game against the Elis a week from to-morrow. Henry, also, will not appear in the first line-up, but will give way to Crawford. Henry was injured in the Dartmouth game, and although the injury is only slight, it was thought advisable to give him a chance to get in perfect shape again. Another player who will not take part in the game to-morrow, unless the visitors should prove a harder proposition than is now expected, is Miller, who has been playing full back. McClave, the full back of the fore part of the season will take his place. Bradley will take the pivotal position with Short at left guard. Davis will be at his old place at left end, Cooney at left tackle, DeWitt at right guard, Reed at right tackle and Vetterlein at quarter. Vetterlein at quarter.

New Haven, Nov. 6.—The long expected shake-up in the Yale line has come and Roraback and Morton were laid on the shelf this evening. Whether they remain there depends entirely upon the game to-inorrow with Syracuse, when their places will be taken by Miller, the crew man, and Batchelder. Through the season Roraback and Morton have been the weak men of the 'varsity line. Miller weighs less than 180 pounds, is a man who can get the ball away and still attend to his opponent. Batchelder asserted his right to a place in the line when he was called on to take Bloomer's place. The rest of the Yale line will remain intact, except that Bissell will take Hogan's place, as the coaches do not wish to risk playing the latter, because of his weak shoulder. Bloomer goes from right to left guard. Rockwell was allowed, for the first time in several days, to get back into the scrimmage to-day and played a snappy game. Aside from quarter the entire backfield will be chosen from the substitute string for the Syracuse game. Metcalf is still unfit for duty, Owsley cannot possibly play and Bowman will be sent in at fullback so that Farmer may be kept for the Princeton contest.

In Wall Street yesterday betting upon the big football games was quite lively. George Mullarkey, in the Broad street curb market offered to bet $1,000 to $900 that Harvard will defeat Pennsylvania in to-day's game at Philadelphia. Small bets on the same game were made at even money. Even money was bet on Columbia against Cornell for the game scheduled for Nov. 14, and $100 to $75 was bet in several instances on Yale against Princeton, which game is also to be played on that date.

CLINTON, Nov. 6.—More battered than any Hamilton team has ever been, the football squad returned from the defeat at Williamstown on Wednesday. Nellis, centre, Thompson, right tackle, and Pratt, left half back, had their shoulders dislocated. McIntyre, the substitute quarter, is out of the game for the season with a broken collarbone, and the team was otherwise battered up. In the game all the half dozen substitutes were used, and, when they were knocked out some of the men whose places they had taken came back into the game. Williams outweighed Hamilton and fairly took the team off their feet. It was a hard game and leaves the Hamilton eleven in bad shape for the New York intercollegiate championship game, to be played with Colgate on Nov. 14.

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 6.—Lafayette's football practice this afternoon consisted of a drill in signals. All the men took part in this in order that fresh material might be at hand if needed to-morrow at Princeton. There was some practising in advancing the ball from kick-off. The work was snappy, spirited and satisfactory. The eleven will go to Princeton to-morrow on a special accompanied by 400 students.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Nov. 6.—To-morrow the Williams team plays one of its few Saturday games on Weston Field. They will meet the strong Colgate eleven which Hatch Williams, 03, and captain of last year's team, is now coaching. Besides playing fast football, Colgate weighs fully as much as Williams both in the line and the back field. An exciting game may be expected with the chances in favor of Williams. A very compact interference, which the three backs follow well, should gain many yards against Colgate. Couch O'Neel is drilling into the team few trick plays, but instead the elements of straight football. Cross-backs, straight plunges and close tackle plays are formations to which the team is devoting its attention. The entire college will meet at the gymnasium, under the direction of the cheer leaders and march to Weston Field.

ITHACA, Nov. 6.—Cornell football circles were somewhat startled to-day when Fetzer, who has played centre on the 'varsity eleven through the fall, was taken to the infirmary with water on the knee, the result of an injury received in practice. This will probably keep him out of the game for the balance of the season. Cornell is not confident of winning from Lehigh to-morrow.

Columbia's football eleven did satisfactory work in secret practice at the Polo Grounds yesterday. There was a complete reversal of playing form over Thursday's showing, and the 'varsity swept the scrub off its feet and scored at will throughout an hour's stiff scrimmaging. Morley put the men through several new formations which are designed to harass Cornell on Nov. 14.

The 'varsity's offensive play was excellent. All the regular back field men except Capt. Smith were in their places, and every man, regular or substitute, had a chance in the play. Talbert, Thorpe and Bruce were absent from the line. This is the first time that Bruce has been laid off since he came out for the eleven, and he is sadly in need of a rest. Fisher and Lippe were used alternately at full back. The competition for this place between the men is very keen, as Capt. Smith will not be able to play against Cornell. Lippe is fast, but very light, weighing but 15s pounds. Fisher is heavier and has had two years previous experience on the 'varsity. He is slow at starting, but is Lippe's superior on defence, and so is likely to get the place.

Duell, Frambach and Metzenthin had turns at playing the two half back places. Jones was again back at querter, and showed his usual good judgment in finding the weak points of the scrub line.

If Thorpe does not recover in time to play at Ithaca, as now seems likely, it is probable that Smythe will be used at centre. Tomlinson and Stangland will hold the guard positions, and Browne and Bruce will play tackles. Bruce has had long experience at that place, where he played in 1901. Columbia's football eleven did satisfactory from Capt. Marshall of the Harvard team informally protesting Smith, Zeigler and Zilligen. Coming at the eleventh hour and addressed to Capt. Metzgar instead of the proper athletic authorities the action of Harvard is universally considered as a threat rather than a protest.

It is in this respect that the students are pleased at the firm stand taken by the athletic committee here in deciding to ignore the letter unless it is backed by some note to the committee. It is announced to-day that all three men will play and the note of the Harvard captain will not be replied to.

This is taken by all the students to mean that the athletic committee has up its sleeve, in case of a break with Harvard, an agreement with Princeton.
